Why I am an Christian

'Always be prepared to give an answer to everyone who asks you to give the reason for the hope that you have.' 1 Peter 3.15

One of the greatest challenges many Christians experience is how to talk openly and honestly about our faith. We may find it difficult to articulate what we believe, and we may be afraid of facing ridicule from others. Perhaps, in our 'consumer choice' society, we are no longer even sure of what sets Christianity apart from the many other spiritualities on offer.

In the final of our 'Why I Am...' series, CIEF is delighted to welcome Revd Canon Dr Michael Green to help us tackle this challenge. Michael Green is a highly acclaimed evangelist and author. Currently a lecturer at the Oxford Centre for Christian Apologetics, he is also a former advisor on evangelism to the Archbishops of Canterbury and York.

Michael Green is gifted in equipping Christians in their grasp of the gospel message, and to then have confidence to converse with others about faith matters. So whether you are a Christian who struggles to share your faith, a sceptic who is puzzled by the claims of Christianity, or a seeker who wants to know more about the Christian faith, this event is for you. We look forward to welcoming you to what promises to be a fascinating and encouraging evening.
